The guinea pig was first domesticated as early as 5000 BC for food by tribes in the Andean region of South America (the present-day southern part of Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Bolivia), some thousands of years after the domestication of the South American camelids. Statues dating from circa 500 BC to 500 AD that depict guinea pigs have been ...Now, this is not one of our BlueStoneCommerce cages for guinea pigs - it's a completely homemade cage. But look at the storage! Great idea to have the storage directly under the cage - for two reasons. Guinea pigs need: Keeping with at least one other friendly guinea pig, unless advised otherwise by a vet/clinical animal behaviourist. Good combinations include: neutered male and one/more females, two females, neutered brothers (if they've been reared together). Lice, Mites and Fleas (Oh my!) Guinea pigs can carry lice, mites or fleas. Many times these animals were infected at birth and carry a very low-grade infection, which increases during times of stress (change or new environment) and symptoms become more apparent during these times.
