

Download Leprosy In Rural India

In 2005, India declared leprosy was no longer a public health concern. A decade after achieving this "elimination" status, India accounted for 60 percent of the global total of new leprosy cases. Leprosy is a disease of poverty, affecting poor and marginalised communities in tropical countries throughout the world.[1] More than 200,000 new cases of leprosy are registered worldwide annually, with 60% in India. Note: Citations are based on reference standards. However, formatting rules can vary widely between applications and fields of interest or study. The specific requirements or preferences of your reviewing publisher, classroom teacher, institution or organization should be applied. Child sponsorship India at New Hope Rural Leprosy Trust, sponsor leprosy, HIV+, polio or disabled affected child in Andhra Pradesh or Western Orissa.